Charles A. Munn is a litigation partner with the firm's New York City office. He has previous experience litigating cases at the federal and state court levels in New York, Delaware, California, Texas, Michigan, and others and has practiced in the areas of commercial and international arbitration. His practice at Nelson Mullins focuses on complex commercial litigation, government investigations, high-stakes contractual disputes, intellectual property matters, and more. He has represented witness in government and clients in negotiations with federal agencies.

A practical strategist by nature, Charles attempts to handle all matters by looking at all factors involved with a case. He is dedicated to helping clients achieve their anticipated goals and has been practicing law for nearly 15 years.
